DELIGHTFUL MUSICALE

AT OSGOOD MEMORIAL. Mrs. George S. Palmer and Charles J. Dyer Captivated a Large Audience.

The crowning event of the entertainments given this season under the auspices of the Parish House association was the song recital held on Friday evening in the Osgood Memorial. The association is much indebted to Mrs. George S. Palmer and Charles J. Dyer, who so kindly consented to assist and gave such a delightful evening of musical entertainment. This was a double attraction and the parish house pariors were packed to almost their utmost capacity—more than two was a double attraction and the parish house pariors were packed to almost their utmost capacity—more than two hundred musical friends and admirers making up the sudience. It was a wildly enthusiastic audience and each number was received with its due applause. Four extra songs were added as encore numbers and more would have been appreciated by the sudience could they have been secured. It is some time since we have had the pieasure of having Mrs. Palmer sing for us here in Norwich and there were the sudience the sudience and sudience in charge, which included arither in charge, which is sufficiently proved the sudience in charge, which is charge, pleasure of having Mrs. Paimer sing for us here in Norwich and there were many to welcome her and to enjoy her beautiful voice and added power in musical interpretation. Mr. Dyer, too, is an infrequent visitor in our song world here. His three spring songs were well received, but were somewhat overshadowed by the weather outside. His most notable contribution to the programme was the group of songs by Peroy Lee Atherton of Boston. The composer, being a friend of Mr. Dyer's, was present through his invitation and accompanied him in the four songs—two of which are still in manuscript. These are clever compositions of much beauty and were given with their true spirit and intent by composer and interpreand were given with their true spat-and intent by composer and interpre-ter.
